

Recruiting New McNair Scholars

Application deadline: October 19, 2009

We are currently recruiting new scholars to join our 2010 cohort. The McNair Program works with low income and first generation college students and students considered underrepresented in graduate education who want to achieve a Ph.D.

McNair Scholars engage in original research, receive training for the Graduate Record Examination (GRE), attend seminars on the graduate school application process, present their research at national conferences and visit their top-choice graduate schools.

For more information or to access our application, visit our web site at: www.mcnair.cmich.edu
